Ballpark Advisors Appointed

The D.C. Sports and Entertainment Commission has appointed a “community leaders advisory committee” as “a way to monitor construction and address any concerns.”

Members include all commissioners on ANC Commissions 6D (Near SW/SE) and 6B (Capitol Hill); most churches in the area, representatives of public housing complexes and other government and private groups.

Mrs. Marge Maceda, President of SWNA, will represent The Southwest Neighborhood Assembly.

The agenda for the first committee meeting on Wed. Apr. 19 at Friendship Baptist Church included a ballpark progress report, employment report, traffic report, neighborhood projects and community benefits.

Baseball Update:

The Sports and Entertainment Commission and the construction company reported to ANC6D on the current status of the baseball stadium. On the site, the asphalt plant is being dismantled, and all properties have been acquired except the WMATA site. Construction begins on May 1st with demolition and excavation operations. The structural steel will go up in October. The planned opening date is April 2008.

SW Tenant Woes At SWNA Apr. 24

The monthly public meeting of the Southwest Neighborhood Assembly on Mon. Sep. 24 will hear from the DCRA Rent Administrator, Keith Anderson, on Rent Control and Related Laws; from Julie Becker, Esq., Legal Aid Society, on Fighting Illegal Landlord Actions; and Natalie LeBeau, Housing Counseling Services, Inc., on Organizing a Tenants' Association and Other Tenants' Rights Strategies.

Ron Collins will explain the Mayor's Budget on behalf of Mayor Anthony Williams' administration.

The meeting is at St. Augustine Church, 6th and Maine Ave. SW at 7:30 pm.

Officer John Coursey

By Mary Williams

First District Police Officer John Coursey, a 27-year veteran of the Metropolitan Police Department, died on March 13, 2006. Officer Coursey worked throughout First District but was especially helpful in PSA 104.

Officer Coursey was not just a great police officer but a champion who advocated for decent neighborhoods and a better city. I first met Officer Coursey in 2000, shortly after moving to Carrollsburg Place SW, and worked with him on many projects. He was among the few police officers who believed in community policing, and not just in theory, but made it work. He demonstrated time and again that it can work. On our first meeting, he gave me his office and cell phone number and told me to call him whenever there were problems. Even when he was off-duty or on vacation, he called me back and followed up. He was an extraordinary public servant, and he will be missed.

I really didn't know at that time that he was a veteran officer with more than 20 years on the force. He worked and exuded the energy and enthusiasm of an ambitious rookie officer who had his eyes on the Chief's job. He was just that diligent and committed to his work.

From our conversations, it was obvious that Officer Coursey saw his work not as a job but a calling to service. And he did it well.

Officer Coursey worked in Focus Mission and was in charge of removing abandoned cars and securing abandoned houses. During the early years, many Southwest neighborhoods had more than their fair share of both of these. But Coursey helped change that. Within three years, the Carrollsburg Place neighborhood was nearly transformed.

Coursey played a pivotal role in that change and will be remembered for his work. I can say without reservation that Officer Coursey made a difference in the 1200 block of Carrollsburg Place and Half St. SW.

John Dalton Coursey Jr. was only 48 years old. He joined the Metropolitan Police Department right out of college and served this community more than 27 years. He leaves to mourn his family, wife, Kathy, four children, Katie, Jim, John and David, all of Gaithersburg; five brothers, and a sister, as well as many Southwest residents. Funeral services were held on March 18, 2006, at Stauffer Funeral Home in Mt. Airy, MD. First District Commander Diane Groomes and many from this area attended.

A scholarship trust fund has been established for Officer Coursey's children. Contributions can be made to Coursey Children's Memorial Trust, c/o Mrs. Diane Salen, 205 Walnut Creek Road, Huntingtown, MD 20639.

Kidsafe Featured on WETA-TV

The Southwest community will be featured on Washington's WETA TV 26, series, WETA Neighborhoods: Stories from Where We Live. Neighborhoods is a mini-documentary that spotlights neighborhoods throughout the Washington Metropolitan Area.

During May, WETA will air four two-minute stories on Southwest highlighting Dr. Dorothy Height, Southwest resident, Historic Southwest, the fish wharf and KidSafe.

The Southwest features premiere on Monday, May 1, immediately before "Texas Ranch House" at 8 p.m. on WETA TV 26.

"Past and present residents of Southwest and all communities are encouraged to share their memories at weta.org/neighborhoods, where visitors can also view video segments and photographs," according to a release from WETA.

DC Schools, NCRC Seek Housing

The National Capital Revitalization Corporation (NCRC) has partnered with the District of Columbia Public School system (DCPS) to establish the NCRC/DCPS Home Ownership Initiative. The goal of this initiative is to assist teachers and other District government employees, in obtaining affordable and workforce housing in the city.

The NCRC/DCPS Home Ownership Initiative will:

- Identify development opportunities for affordable and workforce housing on, or adjacent to DCPS and/or NCRC land assets;
- Provide financial assistance to qualified candidates for home ownership; and
- Create affordable and workforce housing for teachers and other District government employees.

Van Ness School Closing; Amidon, Bowen May Be Combined

The D.C. Public School System is closing Van Ness Elementary School for lack of children, now that the Arthur Capper and Carrollsborg public housing complexes have closed and are being torn down. Replacement housing for public housing residents in Near SE as part of the Hope Six construction in the Van Ness area is some years off.

As part of the public schools master plan recently announced, Amidon (with 285 students) and Bowen (with 242 students) Elementary Schools in Near SW will lose their sixth grade students to Jefferson Jr. High. Elementary Schools are supposed to have between 300 and 500 students, so these two Southwest schools may face "consolidation," with one or the other being closed.

The Board of Education has given Superintendent Janney until May 28 to eliminate one million square feet of the school system's 16.2 million square feet of building space. The Board is expected to act in May.

The Board has been holding public forums. Written statements can be submitted for the official record to: Russell A. Smith, D.C. Board of Education, 825 North Capitol St. N.E., Washington DC 20002.

The school system web site is www.k12.dc.us.

Back-2-Bethel Sunday, May 21

Bethel Pentecostal Tabernacle Assembly of God at 60 I (Eye) St. SW is celebrating its 85th anniversary on Sun. May 21 with two services, one at 10:30 am and one at 7 pm. Lunch will be served, so please RSVP at (202) 484-3184. Rev. Robert L. Carter, Sr., is pastor.

Crop Walk Sat. May 20

Groups from seven Southwest DC churches are fighting against hunger and poverty at home and abroad by joining a five mile walk on Southwest sidewalks Sat. May 20 at 2pm starting at Christ Methodist Church, 4th and I (Eye) St. S.W. About 100 walkers are expected to walk a route that passes the local churches in the SW Group Ministry.

A fourth of the money raised will go to D.C. Hunger Solutions and the rest to Church World Service.

Crop Walk is a program of the Church World Service and has a slogan "We Walk Because They Walk," referring to the fact that in developing nations people have to walk to get water, to find wood, to find medical care, to find shelter.

May 7 Review of SW Renewal

By Ron McBee

SW residents are invited to Arena Stage's Old Vat Room on Sun. May 7 at 6:30 pm to hear graduate students of Professor Richard Longstreth of George Washington University report on their study of SW Urban Renewal of the 1950s and 1960s.

Dr. Longstreth's class in Historic Preservation will have illustrations and pictures as well as background on the 562 acre SW Redevelopment Land Agency (RLA) area and will give information on the architects and landscape architects involved in the design and building of these important Mid-Century buildings. Dr. Richard Longstreth, is one of America's foremost authorities on Mid-Century architecture. Refreshments will be provided.

We at the SW History Task Force hope you will make plans to attend. In addition to the wonderful presentations, we will have available copies, free, of the new publication under the auspices of the National Trust titled, "A Female Modernist in the Classical Capital: Chloethiel Woodward Smith and Southwest Washington DC." This is another step in knowing your SW Community and preparing us for the new Southwest.

Apply for ANC Grants

Advisory Neighborhood Commissioner 6D (ANC6D) Outreach Grant Awards are awarded in amounts up to $500 dollars to qualifying groups doing business in Southwest Washington, DC. Grants will be awarded until $10,000.00 allotted is depleted. ## GWU Law Students Help Settle Disputes

Second and third year law students, under the supervision of an attorney and clinical professor, are offering to mediate disputes between consumers and businesses over the phone.

If you have a dispute with a business you have dealt with, call 202-994-7260 between 10 am and 5 pm Mondays through Thursdays for help.

Examples of disputes they can help with are given in the university's press release:

"Has your car been in the repair shop more than it has been on the road? Or do you think that you are entitled to a refund due to a defective product or poor services? Or have you ordered merchandise that was never delivered?"

You and the business must consent to have your dispute mediated by the law students, but it just might settle a billing question, car repair problem, home contract or credit card dispute.

Do you love the performing arts?
Are you looking for giving opportunities that could bring you tax breaks or provide income to you?

Then play a lead role in the future of Arena Stage.
